David Gordoys

England's Travel Writer of the Year Award Winner

As award-winning Travel Editor of Britain's top-selling News of the World, David Gordoys has covered the globe. For years he has also been a loyal Butlins fan. Here, he tells exactly why he is eagerly looking forward to the entertainment at the new-style Butlins.

"What a great line-up of new entertainment Butlins has in store for me – and YOU!" says David Gordoys, England's Travel Writer of the Year...

AFTER I'D HEARD what Butlins had planned for their autumn, winter and spring short breaks I thought: Wow! Count me in. I must go on some of those.

And I'm sure that same view goes for thousands upon thousands of loyal Butlins regulars who will also welcome the fantastic changes that have been made to the three Butlins Resorts – at Minehead, Bognor Regis and Skegness – as part of the extensive investment scheme.

I went to Bognor Regis for the thrilling launch of the new Family Entertainment Resorts by Boyzone superstar Ronan Keating. I could tell that he, like all the guests there, was very impressed by the new style Butlins.

"This is something!" he said, gazing in awe at the amazing Skyline Pavilion which looks more like something you'd expect to find in Florida rather than the UK, except you have to pay a heck of a lot more to go to the States – and take an eight or nine hour flight.

The weather on the big day at Bognor Regis was marvellous – though thanks to the amazing weatherproof design of the Skyline Pavilion it wouldn't have even mattered if it had rained. The natural light within the Pavilion made me feel as if I was outdoors on a fine day, and I thought the completed Skyline was even better than all the plans and forecasts and my earlier 'building site' visits had led me to expect.

Next I saw one of the new shows. My verdict: Truly astonishing. And again, even better than I had expected. I've seen stage shows in Las Vegas and Orlando – and I must say that the impact, special effects and song-and-dance zest of the Redcoats is nowadays high-stepping into that league. These shows, along with a whole host of other great Butlins characters, are helping to turn the Family Entertainment Resorts into a short break paradise.

In the past I've dished out brickbats at times, but the vibrant new Butlins has earned my admiration. And I'm sure guests will agree.

The only snag in booking may be in deciding which short break to choose and I think many regulars will opt to book two or more breaks. In the autumn there are Halloween and Firework spectaculars, plus some fantastic Music Breaks featuring stars like the Searchers, Boney M and Alexander O'Neal. The kids will be delighted, too, when they see the great line-up of TV favourites coming to Butlins this autumn.

Winter time is panto time and this year Jim Davidson has produced three great shows. I'm a fan of Jim and I know it's a safe bet to pick Christmas or join in the Millennium madness at Butlins and be on to a winner.

The Loyalty Magazine gives you the rundown on what will be available – see what is on offer and you'll know what I mean.

Now it's make-my-mind-up-time – yours too. Yep, I've almost decided which breaks to choose – well, once I've checked with the wife!

These are exciting times for everyone involved with our Family Entertainment Resorts. Thanks to the remarkable weatherproof Skyline Pavilion we are now able to offer superb short breaks all year round...

IT'S SPOOKTACULAR!

As autumn leaves begin to fall our thoughts turn to Halloween, that creepy time of year when ghosts and ghouls abound. That's when you'll experience a spooky feeling of 'other-worldliness' about the Skyline Pavilion, especially around the stage area!

This bewitching theme continues with the nerve-jangling Cirque de Halloween... And look out for the ghoulish gathering led by Count Dracula and Frankenstein's Monster. These haunting and spooktacular breaks commence on 22 October at all three Resorts - you have been warned!

FANTASTIC MUSIC BREAKS

You won't want to miss a beat!

Our weekend Music Breaks begin at Minehead on 12 November with special guest appearances by Boney M and Rose Royce. On 19 November Alexander O'Neal will deliver his special brand of music at Skegness. Both of these great shows will be accompanied by The Concert They Never Gave, a truly touching tribute to Elvis Presley, Buddy Holly and Roy Orbison, coming direct from the West End.

The Bognor Regis Music Break, beginning 26 November, features appearances by the Swinging Blue Jeans, the Searchers, Marmalade and some sensational support bands. The fab sounds in this groovy show will transport you right back to the Swinging Sixties, baby!

"While based on traditional and well-loved themes, these productions will be brought into the Millennium with all of today's advanced stage technology," says Jim.

And, to make our pantos even more memorable, we are combining those traditional themes with some terrific TV favourites. At Minehead, The Ninja Turtles will help Aladdin to foil the evil Abanaza. At Bognor Regis, Cinderella will share the stage

This incredible display of modern circus acts will transform our Centre Stage venues into the finest 'big tops' in Europe.

Circus acts will transform our Centre Stage venues into the finest 'big tops'.

We are very proud and privileged to welcome the amazing New State Circus of Moscow to each of our Family Entertainment Resorts. Why not book your ringside seat now!

THE WEST END

Nostalgia buffs will be delighted to hear about the terrific new shows waiting in the wings at Centre Stage

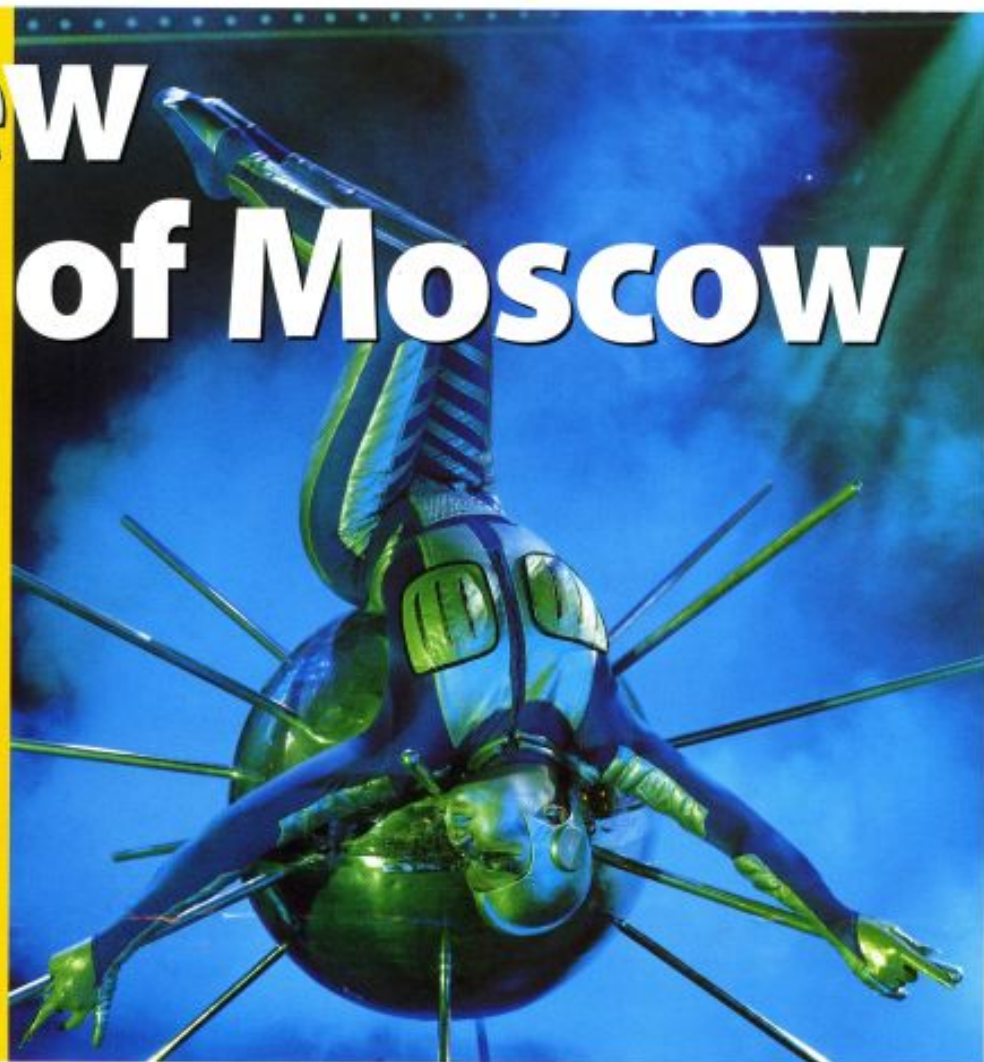

On midweek breaks from 28 February to 10 April 2000 all three Family Entertainment Resorts will feature some very special trips down memory lane.

If the 1950s was your era then we've got just the thing for you, as we proudly present the smash hit West End musical Buddy at our Centre Stage venues.

The legend of Buddy Holly has persisted since his untimely death in February 1959, at the tender age of 22. His short career had produced some of the most enduring songs of our time and his influence still reverberates among singers and songwriters everywhere. Buddy, the musical, will bring those memories flooding back.

Swing Sinatra traces the irresistible rise of Francis Albert Sinatra. You'll follow the velvet-voiced one as he croons his way to fame and fortune.

the New Circus of Moscow

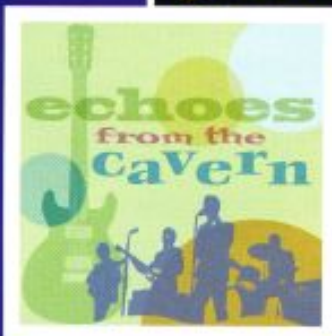

D COMES TO BUTLINS!

After starting out with the Hoboken Four, young Frank signed-up with the Tommy Dorsey Band and created all sorts of mayhem among the 'bobbysoxers' in the early 40s. He made his British debut to great acclaim at the London Palladium in 1950. He topped the UK charts with 'Three Coins in the Fountain' in 1954, the year in which he also received a Best Supporting Actor Oscar for his role as 'Private Maggio' in the WWII epic 'From Here to Eternity'.

There were glittering concerts in Las Vegas still to come and, along with Sammy Davis Jnr and Dean Martin, Frank became a leading member of the showbiz 'Rat Pack'. He struck chart-topping gold again in the 1960s with two smash hits 'Strangers in the Night' and 'Something Stupid', a duet with his daughter Nancy.

The fabulous Swing Sinatra Orchestra provides the musical background to this wonderful tribute to 'Ol' Blue Eyes' – the cool crooner who did it his way.

If you remember winkle-pickers, pirate radio, Beatlemania and the pulsating beat of the Mersey Sound – you'll love Echoes from the Cavern. This incredible celebration of Liverpool's finest bands and solo artistes of the Swinging Sixties focusses on the famous Cavern Club, in Matthew Street, where it all started.

It was there that The Beatles played lunchtime sessions to enthralled teenagers in the early-60s. Other future stars also took to the Cavern's cramped stage, among them Gerry and the Pacemakers, Billy J. Kramer and the Dakotas – and Cilla Black, who had once been a cloakroom attendant at the club. These and many other great icons of sixties pop are recalled in Echoes from the Cavern.

Who says nostalgia is a thing of the past!

Editor Diane Brent

Hello everyone, and welcome to my new Loyalty Viewpoint page. Well, it's your page really – where you can air your views about our Family Entertainment Resorts and about the new-look Loyalty Magazine. Please keep those letters coming in, you know I love to hear from you...

Star Letter

Dear Diane

My wife Rachel and I first met at Butlins in the late-1960s. We got married in '69 and went back to Butlins several times after that to celebrate our wedding anniversary.

We always enjoyed these 'special occasions', but then we went to live and work in Australia for a while. We returned to England last year and decided, for old times sake, to revisit Butlins this June.

We chose Minehead, as that was the last Butlins centre we had been to. Approaching the town, we were immediately struck by the impressive sight of what we soon discovered to be the new Skyline Pavilion. And that wasn't the only change we encountered during our short break. We expected the old 'hide-hi' atmosphere to be gone, and it was – but what we didn't expect was the new air of sophistication about the place.

We've travelled quite a bit and, in our view, new Butlins is as good as any family holiday destination that we've been to. You've certainly come a long way since our last visit and we'll certainly be coming back again.

JIM WILSON, Milton Keynes

What can I say, Jim. You've summed it up nicely. We're delighted that you and Rachel appreciated our efforts. We look forward to seeing you again. By the way, we don't call them 'centres' anymore. Try 'Family Entertainment Resorts'!

Dear Diane

My husband and I have taken our children to Butlins for the last six years. In the past we've stayed at Skegness and Minehead during the summer and our youngsters have always had a lovely time. But this year we have moved because of my husband's change of job, and we are unable to follow our usual holiday routine.

Instead we are thinking of going to Butlins at Bognor Regis in the autumn or winter. But will the children enjoy themselves as much?

CAROL JAMESON, Southampton

I don't think you need have any worries on that score, Carol. Although certain outdoor activities may be closed or subject to weather conditions, there is still tons of fun to be had by your children – from Splash waterworld to all the entertainment at Centre Stage and beneath the canopy of the new weatherproof Skyline Pavilion. You and your husband will enjoy yourselves too. And you'll be assured of a real south coast welcome at Bognor Regis.

Dear Diane

My three-year-old grand-daughter, Sally, is one of the most talkative toddlers you could ever imagine. But when she came face-to-face with Noddy at the welcome party in Skegness, she was so overwhelmed by the experience that she was completely lost for words. Thankfully, 'Noddy' was kindness itself and he soon brought her smile back again.

Guess what? Nowadays she talks of nothing but her meeting with Noddy – and she keeps asking when are we going to see him again!

JILL TREVOR, Derby

He had exactly the same effect on me when I first met him, Jill. I hope we see you again soon. So does Noddy!

Ronan gets new Butlins off to a great start

Boyzone star Ronan Keating helped launch new Butlins at our Bognor Regis Family Entertainment Resort in May.

The chart-topping singer unveiled a special plaque in the Skyline Pavilion to commemorate the launch. And after a two hour tour of the Resort, Ronan was full of praise for our new product.

"Butlins has a fabulous heritage," he said, "and it's great to see that it has reinvented itself in such a dramatic way. I'm particularly interested in the developments in entertainment and in the company's commitment to nurturing young talent. Through my work, this is something very important to me and I'm glad to see large companies investing in entertainment in this way."

Needless to say the Irish superstar was mobbed as he went walkabout and young guests taking a Butlins break were thrilled to see him. Seven year-old Danni Taylor, from Harwich summed it up. "I think he's cool," she said, "because he's smart and good looking!"

Aiding Ronan at the launch were Butlins Managing Director Tony Marshall, and Mike Smith, the new CEO of The Rank Group plc, who commented, "This is a fascinating time for me to join the business and I'm pleased to be here today for the birth of a new era for Butlins. We have made huge changes to this established concept so that it maintains its appeal and relevance for today's family audience."

Tony Marshall reflected on the two year development programme which culminated in the grand opening. "Every element of new Butlins Family Entertainment Resorts has either been introduced or improved following extensive research," he said. "Our over-riding ambition throughout the development process has been to provide a welcoming, fun and caring environment for parents, and indeed grandparents, to spend some time with their children. As we know only too well, if children are happy, mums and dads usually are too."

Ronan Keating echoed Tony's thoughts, saying that his young son would probably want to take a Butlins break one day. "I'm sure he would love it here."

In the spring 1999 issue of the Butlins Loyalty Magazine Tony Marshall, our Managing Director, told us all about his appearance in BBC2's Back to the Floor. We are delighted to report that this superb series recently won a highly coveted BAFTA award. By the way, did you see our Tony on the follow-up programme Back to the Floor Again in July 1999? This was filmed at Minehead 6 months after the first episode – and once again it made for some fascinating viewing.
